ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS OF THE MASSACHU-SETTS BUREAU OF STATISTICS

Rooms 250-254 State House, Boston

The Bureau is organized into five permanent divisions: 1. The Administration Division, charged with duties supervisory in relation to the several divisions; 2. The Labor Division, engaged in the collection and tabulation of statistical and other information relating to matters affecting labor and the condition of the working people, as well as questions of general economic and social interest; 3. The Manufactures Division, which collects and tabulates Statistics of Manufactures; 4. The Municipal Division, which collects and tabulates Statistics of Municipal Finances, audits municipal accounts and installs accounting systems in cities and towns, and supervises the issuance of town notes; 5. The Free Employment Offices Division, embracing the administration of the State Free Employment Offices, of which there are four, located respectively at 8 Kneeland Street, Boston; 47 Water Street, Springfield; 182 Bank Street, Fall River; and 48-52 Green Street, Worcester. During the period of taking and compiling the Census a sixth division, the Census Division, is organized.

The functions of the Bureau and the duties of the Director are summarized in Section 1 of Chapter 371 of the Acts of 1909, entitled "An Act to Provide for a Bureau of Statistics," as follows:

Section 1. There shall be a Bureau of Statistics, the duties of which shall be to collect, assort, arrange, and publish statistical information relative to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary condition of the people, the productive industries of the Commonwealth, and the financial affairs of the cities and towns; to establish and maintain free employment offices . . .; and to take the Decennial Census of the Commonwealth required by the Constitution and present the results thereof in such manner as the General Court may determine.

RATES OF WAGES AND HOURS OF LABOR

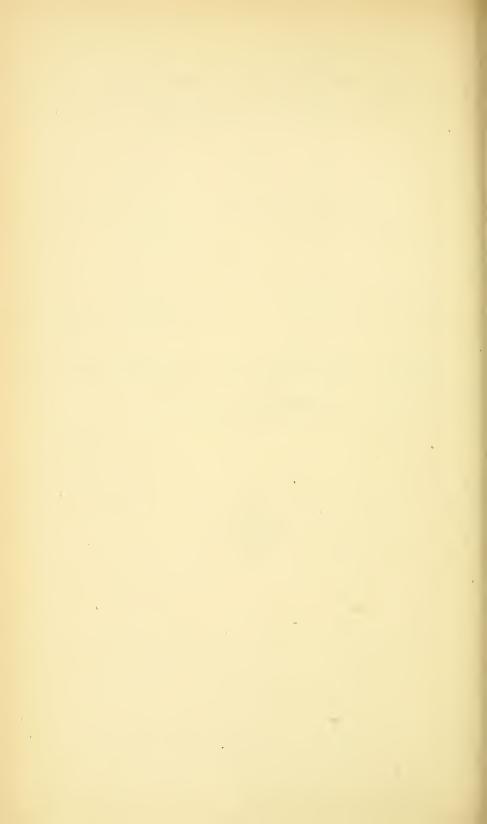

IN

STEAM AND ELECTRIC RAILWAY SERVICE IN MASSACHUSETTS

INTRODUCTION.

Heretofore information relative to rates of wages and hours of labor in those occupations which are peculiar to steam and electric railway service, in that they pertain primarily to the operation of rolling stock, has been included in our Annual Reports on Union Scale of Wages and Hours of Labor.¹ At this time, however, it has been deemed advisable to issue a special report covering more comprehensively the entire railway service in Massachusetts as respects rates of wages and hours of labor, by including, also, a considerable fund of information, previously omitted, having reference to those occupations represented in construction, maintenance, and repair work, most of which are common to other branches of industry such as building, machine, and metal trades.

The information presented in this report was obtained chiefly from printed or typewritten "Rules" or schedules furnished by the officials of the several steam railroad and electric railway companies, and of the several labor organizations concerned.

Steam Railroads. The data for the steam railroads are as of the date May 15, 1916, having been brought up to that date in order that the numerous changes which have become effective since the first of the year might be included. The nature of these changes is explained in general notes to matter having reference to the several branches of service and by specific notes to such occupations as were affected by other than the usual increases in rates granted on any single railroad.

¹ Annual reports of this Bureau having reference to union rates of wages and hours of labor in Massachusetts have been issued during the period 1910 to 1915, the last having been recently issued under the title "Union Scale of Wages and Hours of Labor in Massachusetts, 1915," as Part II of the Annual Report on the Statistics of Labor, 1916, and separately issued as Labor Bulletin No. 114. Special reports on particular industries selected for special study have also been issued from time to time.

Attention should be called to the fact that the rates of pay and hours of labor applicable to steam railroad employees are not confined merely to those portions of the several railroad systems which are within the confines of the Commonwealth, but are applicable likewise throughout the entire systems. Conductors, trainmen, locomotive engineers, and locomotive firemen receive compensation based on mileage covered, but certain minimum rates of wages per hour, day, or month are guaranteed, and it will be observed that the rates of pay and hours of labor applicable to these employees are quite uniform for three of the railroad systems considered. For these occupations and for telegraph operators the hours of labor are regulated by Federal statute. Except in the case of telegraph operators, no recent changes in the rates of wages or hours of labor for employees engaged primarily in the operation of trains have been made, but in other occupations on steam railroads important changes in the rates of wages have occurred on three of the principal railroad systems in the State.

Nearly all of the changes in rates of wages for occupations on Railroads¹ A and B, tabulated in this report, were made during the first four and one-half months of 1916. On Railroad C changes were in process during the Winter of 1915–16, when rates were readjusted, a few were abolished, and several occupations were transferred to similar classifications, to meet new conditions. For this reason it has been almost impossible to state for Railroad C any definite per cent of increase in rates as has been done for the various divisions of service on Railroads A and B. No changes in rates of wages for occupations shown on Railroad D have taken effect since October, 1914; also, on Railroads A and B no changes have been made in rates in Boston since that date.

Street Railways. In the case of street railways the data are as of the date October 1, 1915, and since that date no general changes either in rates of wages or hours of labor have occurred, although a readjustment of several important wage scales is now under consideration. It will be observed that the motormen and conductors are paid hourly rates of wages, based on length of service, and that this basis of payment has been adopted by all of the street railway companies from which returns have been received, although the rate per hour is by no means uniform for the several companies.

In compiling the information relative to steam railroad employees the Boston and Albany R.R., New York, New Haven and Hartford R.R., Boston and Maine R.R., and the Boston, Revere Beach and Lynn R.R. only were considered; and in the tabular matter (Tables 1-7) each of these four systems is designated by a capital letter, A, B, C, or D, in the order named.

¹ Overtime is time in excess of 10 hours a day or 100 miles a day, except for extension circuit trips, so-called. Unless otherwise stated in the table it is paid for pro-rata. For extension circuit trips the payment is for not less than one-quarter of a day, for a round trip or fraction thereof. Special conditions apply to employees tied up on runs under the 16-hour law, or 14-hour law. The abbreviation "Reg." signifies regular rate or "pro-rata."

On Railroad A the rate for emergency service is one-half day's pay for less than five hours and not less than a day's pay for over five hours.

On Railroad B rate for emergency service of more than 30 minutes and less than two hours is paid on hourly basis, 60 minutes or less to count as one hour; service of less than five hours or less than one-half of daily mileage—rate is one-half day's pay; over five hours or more than one-half daily mileage—rate is full day's pay.

On Railroad C rate for emergency service of 10 miles or less or one hour or less is as for 10 miles; over one hour or over 10 miles but less than five hours or less than 50 miles is as for 50 miles; over five hours or over 50 miles is a day's pay.

¹ Rates shown do not include rates paid for emergency service, so-called, or special rates for certain duties. On Railroad A engineers in train service when resuming duty on continuous trips, after having been tied up under the law governing hours, are paid from tie-up point to terminal on following basis: For 50 miles or less, or 5 hours or less, payment is for 50 miles; for more than 50 miles or over 5 hours, payment is for 100 miles. Engineers or road freight trains, when required in emergency to go with stock to certain yards, are allowed a minimum road rate of 2 hours after arrival at yard. If time exceeds 2 hours they are allowed 3 hours' pay; if it exceeds 3 hours, 4 hours' pay, etc. Engineers in switching service receive road rates for work in certain yards.

On Railroad C, emergency service (extra work required between regular laid-out day trips or before registering off duty) payment for 10 miles is allowed for less than 10 miles, or less than one hour's work; payment for 50 miles is allowed for over 10 miles and less than 50 miles, or for over one hour and less than 5 hours; a day's pay is allowed for 50 miles or over, or for 5 hours or over. For emergency service in making locomotive repairs, payment is for one hour when employed less than an hour; 5 hours for over one hour but less than 5 hours, and one day's pay for over 5 hours and up to 10 hours. Passenger engineers who are required to heat trains, who repair engines at points where no men are employed for the purpose, or perform other extra service for which extra time is agreed to be paid, are paid 50 cents an hour. In switching service 29 minutes or less are not counted in paying overtime. For over 29 minutes payment is for one hour; for over one hour and less than 5 hours, payment is for 5 hours; for 5 hours or over, one day's pay.

³ Weekly rate.

⁴ First 5 days, 9 hours; 53 hours a week.

¹ On Railroad A rates of wages in this department were increased, on April 1, 1916, five per cent over rates in effect in January, 1915.

On Railroads B and D no changes in rates of wages have taken effect since January, 1915.

On Railroad C rates were adjusted during the Winter of 1915-16. The most usual increases were 15, 17, and 25 cents a day. For comparison with rates in effect in January, 1915, see Table 16 on page 91 of Labor Bulletin No. 107 (Union Scale of Wages and Hours of Labor, 1914).

² Overtime rates are as follows:

Railroad A. — Regular maintenance men having large plants or sections are paid for 7 days a week but work only 8 hours on Sunday. Construction men work 6 days a week and are paid time and one-half for all overtime. When regular maintenance men work with construction men on Sundays, during extensive repairs, they receive time and one-half.

Railroad B. — Time and one-quarter is paid for overtime on Sundays, July Fourth, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day up to 6 P.M.; time and one-half thereafter. On other days regular rate is paid up to 8 P.M.; and time and one-half thereafter. When called out at night, time and one-half is paid.

Railroad C.— Regular maintenance men are paid time and one-half for all emergency work due to conditions over which they have no control, such as accidents, breakages, or climatic conditions. Construction men are paid time and one-half for all overtime.

Railroad D. - Overtime is paid for as time and one-half.

¹ In Station and Ferry Service no changes in rates of wages on Railroads A and B, in Boston, have become effective since January, 1915. Outside of Boston certain rates on Railroad A were increased 5 per cent on March 15, or April 1, 1916, over rates in effect in January, 1915, and on Railroad A, also, rates for clerks, station and ticket agents, and telegraph operators were increased 6 per cent on February 19, 1916, over rates in effect in January, 1915. On Railroad B rates for freight house stevedores and laborers (outside of Boston) were increased 10 cents a day on October 30, 1915, over rates in effect in January, 1915. On Railroads C and D no changes have become effective since January, 1915.

² Rates shown are for Boston Terminal Stations only. Rates in other stations in the State are usually lower except where there is an unusual amount of business or traffic.

³ Per week.

⁴ This rate became effective on March 15, 1916, and is an increase of 5 per cent over rate in effect in January, 1915.

¹ Rates shown for Railroad A went into effect in March, 1916, when an increase of one cent an hour over rates in effect in January, 1915, was granted.

Rates shown for Railroad B (other than foremen) went into effect on April 1, 1916, when an increase of one and one-half cents an hour (with a few exceptions) over rates in effect in January, 1915, was granted. The exceptions, in the majority of instances, are noted in individual cases. Rates for all foremen and assistant foremen, etc., were increased on May 12, 1916; general foremen and foremen receiving more than 30 cents an hour were granted an increase of 5 per cent; all foremen and assistants receiving 30 cents or less were granted an increase of 1½ cents an hour.

Rates shown for Railroad C were readjusted during the 6 months beginning in the Fall of 1915, and represent increases varying from 10 cents to about 70 cents a day for those receiving hourly or daily rates (the majority of these, however, were increases of 15 to 25 cents a day) while substantial increases were granted those receiving weekly and monthly rates of wages. Certain rates, also, were abolished, and rearrangements were made in certain classifications.

Rates shown for Railroad D are the same as were in effect in October, 1914.

- ² Paid for 54 hours a week.
- 3 Minimum and maximum daily rates.
- 4 Rate in January, 1915, was 16 cents an hour.
- 5 Same rates are paid to these men employed in roundhouses.
- 6 Minimum daily rate and maximum hourly rate.
- 7 Weekly rate.

¹ Rates of wages of Maintenance of Way employees on Railroads A, B, and C have not been increased during the year 1915 or during the first 4 months of the year 1916, except in a few occupations, as follows: On Railroad A all sectionmen, including foremen, assistant foremen, and laborers, received, in March, 1916, an increase of 10 cents a day over rates reported as in effect in January, 1915; on Railroad B all laborers received an increase of 10 cents a day over rates reported in effect in January, 1915; on Railroad C rates for foremen were adjusted, some of the lower rates being abolished, some being increased by 1½ cents an hour, and many foremen who had received $3.40 a day in January, 1915, were increased to $3.50 a day in the Winter of 1915-1916; on Railroad C, also, two rates for track supervisors were abolished during the above period. On Railroad D no changes have been made in rates since October, 1914.

² On Railroads A and C, unless otherwise stated, the weekly hours of labor for outside work are 58 (10 on the first 5 days and 8 on Saturday). The hours for inside work are 53 (9 on the first 5 days and 8 on Saturday).

On Railroad B, unless otherwise stated, the weekly hours for outside work are 60 (10 a day), and for inside work are 48 (8 a day).

On Railroad D men who work 9 hours a day work 8 hours on Saturday, 53 hours a week.

¹ Rates shown for Railroad A went into effect in March, 1916, when an increase of one cent an hour over rates in effect in January, 1915, was established.

Rates shown for Railroad C underwent adjustment during the 6 months beginning in the Fall of 1915, and represent increases varying from 10 cents to about 75 cents a day for those receiving hourly or daily rates (the majority of these, however, were increases of 10 to 18 cents a day) to substantial increases for those receiving weekly and monthly rates of wages. Certain occupations and rates, also, were abolished, or transferred to a similar classification.

Rates shown for Railroad D are the same as in effect in October, 1914.

- ² Rate in effect in January, 1915, was 16 cents an hour.
- ³ Rate in effect in January, 1915, was .175 cents an hour.
- 4 Rates shown are increases of one and one-half cents an hour over rates in effect in January, 1915.
- ⁵ Same rate was in effect in January, 1915.
- 8 Same rates are paid to men employed in car shops.
- 7 Some employees receiving .375 an hour work 63 hours.
- 8 Minimum rate in effect in January, 1915, was .235 cents an hour; some employees receiving 26 cents an hour work 63 hours.

Rates shown for Railroad B (other than foremen) went into effect on April 1, 1916, when an increase of one and one-half cents an hour (with a few exceptions) over rates in effect in January, 1915, was established. These exceptions, in the majority of instances, are noted in individual cases. Rates for all foremen and assistant foremen, etc., were increased on May 12, 1916; general foremen and foremen receiving more than 30 cents an hour were granted an increase of 5 per cent; all foremen and assistants receiving 30 cents or less were granted an increase of one and one-half cents an hour.

¹ Returns received from 18 street railway companies, the list of which is shown on page 45, showed rates of wages and hours of labor in effect on October 1, 1915, for all uniformed men and also for all occupations not peculiar to street railway service but also common to many other industries. For the sake of shortening titles the numerals designating the several railway systems have been used in tabulating the returns.

On Railway No. 1 a minimum rate of $2.25 a day is paid to all mechanical occupations (other than electrical linemen) at the end of one year of service.

- ² Rates of wages are graded according to class of service or priority of service.
- 3 Minimum and maximum daily rates.
- 4 On Sundays and holidays receive 9 hours' pay for 8 hours' work.
- ⁵ Minimum and maximum hourly rates.
- 6 Work on Sunday; day consists of one hour less working hours than on the other six days of the week.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE BUREAU OF STATISTICS

REPORT ON THE STATISTICS OF LABOR.

(Public Document No. 15.)

The first Annual Report on the Statistics of Labor was published in 1870, the first Labor Bulletin in 1897, and Special Reports have been issued from time to time as occasion required. Beginning with the year 1913 all of these everal publications of the Labor Division of the Bureau have been styled "Labor Bulletins", and a certain number of copies have been set aside for binding and publication at the end of the year under the title of the "Annual Report on the Statistics of Labor." The Labor Bulletins are numbered consecutively as issued, and each number contains matter devoted to one subject, concerning labor or the condition of the wage-earning population or questions of economic or social interest.

A list of the Bulletins issued since January 1, 1915, will be found below, any of which will be mailed to applicants upon request. Persons or organizations desiring to receive the Labor Bulletins as issued will be entered on our mailing list upon making application, and exchanges with publications having reference to industrial and social matters will be gladly made.
